Program

J. J. WOODS, '38, Master of Ceremonies

I.

L'ESPERTO NOCCHIERO (from Astarte) Bononcini

The wise sailor steering puts back, having started: What changes his mind? The wild winds are veering, He makes for the harbor, a shelter to find! What moved him to sail? He set sail, but sped back to the harbor, Ere Wrecked by the gale!

LUNGI DAL CARO BENE Secchi

Far from my love I languish. Dreams swept with death steal o'er me. If she be not near me, or fail me. . . . The light of my day.

LA DANZA G. Rossini

"Now the moon already rising o'er the lake is shining bright; 'Tis bewitching tantalizing; and in dances we'll delight!"

II.

ADELAIDE Beethoven

Lonely wanders thy friend, Where o'er the garden Charmful Spring-time in mellow radiance floateth, and thro' wavering, flow'ry branches quiv'reth, Adelaide! Twilight breezes 'mid tender leaves are sighing, Silv'ry May bells are tinkling in the grasses, Waves are murmur'ring and nightingales are warbling, Adelaide!

SAPPHISCHE ODE Brahms

Roses I at night from the hedge did sever; Sweeter scent they breathed then in day time ever.

DIE FORELLE Schubert

A streamlet clear and sunny with ripples all about, Was once the bath for gentle trout. A fisher with his angle stood also on the shore: "He caught and entangled the fish more and more. I saw with saddened feeling, the cheated and the cheat."

UNGEDULD*Schubert*

I'd carve it on the bark of every tree, On every stone it should engraven be; I fain would sow it in each garden green, In early cress it should be quickly seen, On every page should be inscribed forever:
Thine is my heart, and shall be thine for ever!

III.

II MIO TESORO INTANTO (Aria from Don Giovanni)Mozart

Mean while go seek my darling, Console her wounded heart, Dry on her lovely lashes the tear drops as they start, "Tell her that I am going to avenge her sufferings."
